St. Leo's Fall Festival Continues All This Week

The interest of all Auburn Park has been aroused in St. Leo's big fall festival. So many attractions are offered that hundreds of people are returning night after night to spend their evenings at St. Leo's school hall. Everybody seems to be going away with one or two big packages in his or her arms.

Big features this week will be "stockyard men's night," Wednesday, Oct. 20th, and "Ford night," Friday, Oct. 22d. Big things will be happening every other evening, too, right up to Monday, the 25th, when the festival closes.

All Auburn Parkers are invited to attend whether or not they are members of St. Leo's parish. So don't miss this big event—be there early and aften.

The Auburn Park Federated Church

The Federated Sunday school, setting as its goal the doubling of its attendance, is making great strides in that direction. Over 50 per cent of the goal has already been attained, 13⅓ per cent of which has been made within the past two weeks. New and efficient workers are added to our already splendid corps of teachers and officers each week. Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Van Epps have just returned from their vacation and have taken their places as teachers in the school. Mr. Van Epps has taken charge of the men's Bible class and Mrs. Van Epps the superintendency of the primary department. Mrs. Van Epps will be assisted in this department by Mrs. Willard. Miss Pearl Hairiss, who has been so efficiently handling this department, will have a class in the junior department. Owing to the rapid increase in the beginners' department new teacher will be added there; Miss Rose Wilmoth will probably fill this place.

The Federated church is planning its thirtieth anniversary celebration for the week of Nov. 7-14. The complete program has not been completed yet. There will be historical addresses by representatives of the Congregational and Baptist sections of our church on Sundays Nov. 7 and 14 and suitable programs arranged during the week.

In his Sunday evening address on "Stocks and Bonds" the pastor outlined the different types of and what to look for in securities, illustrating each type. In his lecture next Sunday evening he will discuss "The Erecting of a Building," and on the following Sunday evening, "Insurance."

Sunday morning worship, 10:45.
Sunday school, 12 m.
Young people's meeting, 6:30 p.m.
Evening service, 7:45.

There was a large attendance at the meeting Wednesday, Oct. 6th, of the Calumet High School Parent-Teachers association. Mrs. Cassell told of the good work of the Vocational Supervision League. Music, refreshments.

The Chicago rabbit breeders held their annual show at the South Side Rabbit Farm, 8521 May St., on Sunday, Oct. 10th. Over twenty different varieties of rabbits were on exhibition, also a large exhibit of fur garments made from the rabbits' hides, which was particularly of great interest to the ladies. Over 3,000 visited the show.

West Auburn A. A.'s Score Football Victory Over Racine Arrows

Before a crowd of two hundred football fans the 3A's football team scored the first touchdown after thirteen minutes of play. It was an ideal football day. Old Sol was out in all his glory as the maroon and white of the Auburns, with arms swinging and bodies tense, faced their motley arrayed opponents with a determination of carrying them off their feet, and this they did. Their confidence strengthened by the knowledge of a touchdown easily achieved, led them on, sweeping the opposition before them. The game would have continued to the finish had it not been for the babyish attitude of the Arrows' quarterback, who, seeing defeat staring them in the face, and under the pretext of broken faith on the part of Coach Sweeney of Auburn, refused to proceed with the game. Coach "Jim" Sweeney of the Auburns, former end on Notre Dame, and who coached Davenport for two successful seasons, inquired of the Arrows if he would be satisfactory to them as the umpire in the absence of that offical. He was satisfactory and the game proceeded. Just before the end of the first half and just as Auburn was about to score another touchdown a dispute arose between two players on the respective teams. Coach Sweeney, the personification of impartiality and fairness in sports, grabbed hold of the Auburn player and said, "Get to your position." The Arrows' quarterback instantly howled that Sweeney was coaching. The game ended in favor of the Auburns, six to nothing. The feature playing of the game, while it lasted, was the work of the crack little quarterback for Auburn, Willie Hannon, whose brainy strategy and running time and again mystified the invaders. Another feature was the smashing drives of Ed Zeiger, who gained every time he took the ball. Manager "Dick" Phillips has arranged a game with the Condors for Sunday, Oct. 24, 2:30 p. m., at Condors' field, 85th St. and Elizabeth Ave. While time was called for minor injuries several times, there was only one real injury of the game. During the first quarter "Jimmy" Walker of the Auburns was carried off the field with a broken ankle.

John Prendergast branch, Friends of Irish Freedom, have completed arrangements for their first annual dance and entertainment to be held at Cosmopolitan hall, 79th and Halsted Sts., on Saturday evening, Oct. 23rd. Over 500 tickets have been sold up to this time and a record crowd is expected. Music will be furnished by Barthen's orchestra. Dancing will start at 8:30 and will continue until one in the morning. Rev. Fr. Lawrence O'Sullivan, for fourteen years assistant pastor of St. Leo's, serving under the late Frs. Egan and Crimmins and at present assistant to Fr. P. F. Shewbridge, has been appointed pastor of the church at Braidwood, Ill., 57 miles out from Chicago. A familiar figure to all in Auburn Park, deeply devoted to his vocation, Fr. O'Sullivan's leaving is indeed regretted by St. Leo's, especially the "old timers." We hope that the people of Braidwood will welcome Fr. O'Sullivan to his new responsibilities.

Important Notice to Dancers—One of—pardon me, I mean the best dance of the season will be given by the Rambler Rose Social Club on Friday evening, Oct. 22, at Auburn Masonic hall, 7832 Union Ave. The music will be 100 per cent.

A FIGHTING CHANCE

When a person is seriously ill, suffering from one of the many so-called Dis-eases and apparently has about a fifty-fifty break to recover, he is said to have a FIGHTING CHANCE.

THE NEW DRUGLESS HEALTH SCIENCE of CHIROPRACTIC offers a FIGHTING CHANCE to every sick man, woman and child. It does not claim to be able to perform miracles but it does positively locate the CAUSE of so-called Dis-ease and by means of CHIROPRACTIC VERTEBRAL ADJUSTMENTS given with the bare hands only, relieves the Nerve Pressure, making it possible for Nature to have full sway.

HEALTH IS NATURAL—DIS-EASE IS UNNATURAL.

Of course it is best to take CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTMENTS at the very first sign of danger but for several reasons you may not have been in a position to do this. You have been imbued with the idea handed down from generation to generation that when you were sick no one but a Medical Doctor could afford you relief. BREAK AWAY FROM THAT FALLACY AT ONCE. Realize that no matter what your trouble may be, no matter how despondent you may be,

Chiropractic Offers You a Fighting Chance

Take advantage of that offer now. Let your CHIROPRACTOR make a Spinal Analysis and explain to you HOW and WHY his Science will help you. You will then emerge from the fight A WINNER and will be rewarded by the possession of HEALTH and HAPPINESS.

Street Car Does Not Stop; Kills Baby; Hurts Two

A street car that didn't stop where it should have stopped killed a baby Monday night and seriously injured a mother and another child.

The victims are Mrs. Madeline Reimers of 9055 South Carpenter St. and her daughters, Virginia, 2½ years old, and Lucille, 3 months.

Mrs. Reimers, with her children, and "Buddy" Kay, 8 years old, the child of a neighbor, was standing at the crossing at 92nd St. and Vincennes Road. Mrs. Reimers had promised "Buddy's" mother she would put him on the car.

The car—111th St. and Morgan Park—hove into sight and Mrs. Reimers, with the baby in her arms and the other children at her side, walked close to the car tracks and waited. Autos swept by behind her, numerous and fast. They made her nervous. She signalled to the motorman and edged a little closer to be sure the autos would not run over her. If the car had stopped she would have been in no danger.

But the car didn't stop. Mrs. Reimers started back quickly, but it was too late. The car tore the baby from her and dashed it to the pavement, dead. Mrs. Reimers and Virginia were rolled out of the right of way. Doctors at the Auburn Park hospital hold out little hope for them. "Buddy" escaped injury.

The motorman, J. Zimmerman, and the conductor, J. Clancy Badger, were questioned by the Englewood police and the motorman was ordered held.

EXHIBITION BY OUSTED SOX PLAYERS BLOCKED

Greenville, S. C., Oct. 11.—Officers of the Greenville baseball club today flatly refused to lease their ball park for an exhibition ball game in which Joe Jackson and Claude Williams, former Chicago White Sox team members, would be allowed to play.

Underwriters' Plans for Firemen Rouse Cullerton

Recommendations that the fire department be reorganized made by the fire department committee of the Chicago board of fire underwriters were characterized yesterday by John A. Cullerton, departmental manager of properties, as "unwarranted criticism, not based on a knowledge of the facts." The board recommended that the number of battalion chiefs be increased so each would have charge of not more than eight companies, instead of ten. Mr. Cullerton declared this would increase the cost of operation and taxes without increasing efficiency.

Danville, Ill., Oct. 11.—Congressman Joseph G. Cannon suffered considerable pain tonight from fracturing a bone in his left wrist when he stepped on a piece of coal in his basement and fell on his arm.

ALL MEN FLIRT, SAYS CAPITOL POLICEWOMAN

Washington, Oct. 11.—"Every man in Washington is an active flirt," says Mrs. Sarah V. Darling, Washington's first policewoman, in an appeal for an "anti-mashing" campaign. "Every one is flirting," she said; "the ice man, the carpenter, the furnace man, the chauffeur—every kind of man—and yes, even the nice men. Of course, it is harmless enough, but it promotes a spirit of recklessness."

"The Little Store with the Big Values"

SMASHING SHOE PRICES

Another big, smashing sale on Men's, Women's and Children's Shoes, that will never be forgotten in Auburn Park. Why pay high prices for shoes when you can save $2.00 and $3.00 on every pair purchased at the ECONOMY SHOE STORE. We will give you some of the reasons why we can save you so much money. We are just around the corner from high rents, our buying for many stores enables us to buy them cheaper, because we buy in quantities; our chain of stores that we are opening from coast to coast enables us to sell shoes at less than our competitors. We have only been here for one month and we are forced to break the walls through for larger space and bigger seating capacity. Go and see for yourself. The public knows what they are getting and we will challenge anybody for values. Shoes have taken a big drop, like other commodities. Why deceive the public and force higher prices? You can go to the Economy Shoe Store and buy shoes for less than cost on today's market. Think before you buy, and go to the Economy to convince yourself and you will agree we are right. Keep the prices down. If you pay high prices you will keep them up. The store will be open evenings till 9 p. m. and Saturday till 10 p. m. for one week, to give you all a chance. This sale will last one week, beginning Thursday, October 21st. All we ask is come early and don't wait till the last minute.

'Wimmen's High Dresses' Blamed for Auto Mishaps

New York.—An observing Tom Flinn writes Mayor Hylan that the high elevation of ladies' skirts is responsible for the high automobile death rate.

Tom Flinn penned this:

"Dear Sir:—There has been a lot of talk in the newspapers about your wanting the automobile to stop killing people. It aint the automobiles fault. The trouble aint there. Make the wimmen folks quit wearing dresses so high. That's the trouble. Men walking on the streets and driving cars can't keep their minds on their jobs. They can't look two direkshuns at wonce.

SPINNING YARNS.

Daddy had a New Year's story he had not yet told the children and though it was some time past New Year's they wanted to hear it. This is the story.

So Eager.

"In the first place of all," said old Mr. Giant, "I want to wish all of you the compliments of the season."

"Thank you, thank you kindly," said old Witty Witch.

"We all thank you, every one of us," said Peter Gnome.

"And I hope you will have many happy New Years, every one of you," added old Mr. Giant.

Again every one thanked him.

And for a few moments all the Fairies and Brownies and Elves and Gnomes and the Bogey family did nothing else but bow to each other and say "Happy New Year everyone; compliments of the season," and "May you have many more."

"I asked you to come to my New Year's party," old Mr. Giant said, after a few moments, "as I have the famous story-tellers here for the afternoon."

"The famous story-tellers?" everyone asked. "Who are they?"

"In just a moment you will see," Mr. Giant answered, with a smile. "Come, my fine guests, will you do me the honor to take your places? There is a seat for everyone. And the Fairy Queen has helped me with the seats."

"Story-tellers, special seats and the Fairy Queen has helped," they all said to each other. "It sounds pretty nice, eh?" And everyone chuckled with glee and smiled as they looked forward to a very nice afternoon.

They had all come to old Mr. Giant's cave and had been standing outside of the cave wishing each other their New Year wishes.

"All come in," old Mr. Giant said.

Everyone went into the cave.

"All, pray, take your places. You will see your names on the backs of the seats. Master Chilly was good enough to paint them for me," old Mr. Giant grinned.

All about the cave were seats made of ice and hard snow. And over each seat was written in a great and flourishing hand the name of the guest who was to sit there. Yes, certainly, Master Chilly had painted the names very beautifully with his snow paint brush and his ice paint brush, blowing on them with his cool breath to make the shading just right.

"And I told you," said old Mr. Giant, as the guests were about to take their places, "that the Fairy Queen had helped me. You were going to have rather cold chairs, you thought!

"But the Fairy Queen brought her magic wand along just after the seats had all been made and waved it over them, saying:

"'Be warm, be warm for Mr. Giant's party,
And do not chill any guest
Remember they are hale and hearty,
And wish not to freeze when they take a rest.'"

Everyone laughed at this and turned to the Fairy Queen.

"Well," said Peter Gnome, "the Fairy Queen's magic wand is the only thing which could keep chairs of ice and snow from feeling that way. But, Mr. Giant, we want to know about our next treat! We were to hear the famous, wonderful, fine story-tellers."

"At once, at once," said Old Mr. Giant, and from a little distance off in the cave they heard low singing and talking, and then louder and louder it came.

Soon there came before them through one of the side passages until it reached the very center of the cave, a spinning loom drawn by six fairies. One of them sat down at the loom as soon as it was in the very center, and they took turns spinning and turning out story after story. As they spun they weaved stories instead of anything else.

Spinning Loom.

"We're spinning yarns," they said, "which is another name for stories, and whenever you hear folks spinning yarns or telling good stories and having fine old talks you will know that in the background the Yarn Spinning Fairies, or the Six Story Tellers are helping them."

And all through the afternoon, as they spun in turn, the stories became more wonderful and beautiful all the time, and as they spun them they said them aloud. Sometimes they turned out little songs and jingles, but mostly just stories, stories of great people and little people, of princes and princesses and of ordinary folks, and everyone said old Mr. Giant had given them a splendid time at the beginning of the New Year!

Economy.

Without economy none can be rich, and with it few will be poor.—Doctor Johnson.

I Will

I will make this day worth while. I will drop the Past, remembering it only as a valuable path through which I have walked into the Now.

I will take up the work of this day as a personal pledge to do my best. I will do the things I have failed to do before. I will attempt new things, even that I know now I cannot do. I will go ahead.

I will play the game today with a warm heart and a cool head. I will smile. I will be patient. I will take personal command of myself.

I will be loyal to the concern for which I toil. I will work because I like to do so. I will be fair and just, because it is the only way to win. I will do right because it is right. I will drink defeat, if it comes, like good medicine. I will sweat by courageous effort—determined at all times to succeed.

I will be careful of my Time, considerate of my Health, jealous of my Honor. I will help make this day great for everyone with whom I come in contact. For in the glory and success of my service is hidden the glory and success of my own life. I will make this day Worth While.

—George Matthews Adams.

'In the Moon's Garden'

(Alma B. Wilson)

When little children lie asleep
The sand-man climbs o'er the sandy steep,
Old Mother Goose there steers the cars
With the trolley fastened to the ears of Mars;
Jack Frost and May there side by side
On a cloud toboggan take a wild ride
Way up to Mr. Moon's back gate,
Where 'tis always bright and never late;
His home is studded with silvery stars,
The windows tinted with rainbow bars;
There Lady Moon unfurls her fan,
All made of snow-flakes, edged with tan;
On a cloud Baby Moon rides a-joy all night,
His hobby-horse painted silver white;
The Gingerbread Man climbs the sugar-plum tree
To sweeten the cookies for his breakfast tea;
Here fairies teach music all night long,
The notes and scales for the birds' gay song.
Jack-in-the-Pulpit, with bright colored sand,
Is shading the flowers for butterfly-land;
The witch on a broomstick lives next door,
With a horse-shoe pinned on the kitchen floor.
A picket rests near the old oven grate,
Right near the fence of Eden's old gate;
Little Boy Blue with jacket all torn
Down the chimney blows his old horn.
But 'tis only for boys and wee little girls
With sleepy eyes and paper-wrapped curls,
Invited to take this enjoyable trip

The Song and the Tree

By Donald F. R. MacGregor

God grew a tree, a stately oak,
In an open space, where the forest broke;
The shrubs and plants from far around,
Looked up in awe at the monarch crowned;
Beneath it only grass dared grow,
Or timid flower its sweet face show;
Admiring nature bowed before,
This guardian at the forest's door.

A poet resting in the shade,
The giant oak's great branches made,
Inspired by the scene profound,
The open temple towered around,
The bright green carpet for a floor,
The forest back, the world before,
Doomed with sky and floored with sod,
Like Eden's first abode of God,
Enraptured, pictured it in song;
For to such scenes do songs belong.

In regal strength the great oak reared,
On a flimsy page the song appeared.

In after years, what a change there came,
To the tree 'twas death—to the song 'twas fame;
For of the tree is left no trace,
Not even memory marks the place;
But the song still lives forever young,
In every land the words are sung.
Grand and beautiful, clear and strong;
For God, a soul, gave to the song.

This Do I Ask

(Agnes Kendrick Gray)

This do I ask my Guardian Fate,
That like a firm-set tree,
Throughout the ripening years to come
My life shall grow to be.
Now in my burgeoning, bright youth,
The spring dawn of my days,
May April set a-flowering
The green and tender sprays,
Whereon my winged dreams may sing,
Like birds that build their nest,
And bring the sense of spring to hearts
With winter's pall oppressed.
May summer, like a cavalier,
Ride by the garden wall
And, lingering, lose his burning heart
To one white tree and small!
When autumn's shuttle hours shall weave
Their brown and golden weft,
May then my patient branches spread
Be not of fruit bereft!
I ask my share of rain and wind,
Of sun serene and warm—
That I grow gentle in the light,
And stronger in the storm.

—Youth's Companion.

"I Was Wrong"

There may be virtue in the man
Who's always sure he's right,
Who'll never hear another's plan
And seek for further light;
But I like more the chap who sings
A somewhat different song;
Who says when he has messed up things,
"I'm sorry; I was wrong."

It's hard for any one to say
That failure's due to him—
That he has lost the fight or way
Because his lights burned dim.
It takes a man aside to throw
The vanity that's strong,
Confessing, "'Twas my fault, I know,
I'm sorry; I was wrong."

And so, I figure, those who use
This honest, manly phrase,
Hate it too much their way to lose
On many future days.
They'll keep the path and make the fight,
Because they do not long
To have to say—when they're not right—
"I'm sorry; I was wrong."

—From Chicago Evening Post.

Plain clothes men have been guarding oil stations in various parts of the city for the last week. Detective Sergeant Frank J. McCahey was guarding the one at 67th St. and South Chicago Ave. last night when five bandits drove up, took his revolver away from him, robbed the agent, William Nicholson of 335 W. 65th St., of $40 and escaped.
